

Hello to our Kronos partners,

Hope you're safe and well! I know everyone's world is totally upside down and dealing with all kinds of fallout. I'm reaching out just to share a quick update about what we're seeing at Crew and see if we can be helpful.

We've called out some of what we're seeing in the below post, but the main thing is a huge surge in activity and communications, as folks are scrambling to get the right information to their teams. We're also fielding questions/requests re how quickly businesses can get started (e.g. from WKS + KFC) as folks are in need of something immediately. We've implemented 24-hour onboarding to get folks going and are doing deferred payments / extended free trials to make sure there is no friction and no barriers to getting a tool out to the frontline teams.

We're sincerely eager to help the businesses that are out there trying to get through this, and we know that communication is a key part of keeping their teams safe and informed. So please do reach out and happy to do whatever we can.

Stay safe,
Scott
