ADP Marketplace Partner Spotlight
Lattice

Develop engaged, high-performing teams.

Lattice helps drive strategic people teams with performance management, employee engagement and career development in a unified platform.

Help drive stronger retention, engagement and productivity.

According to a Lattice-commissioned study by Forrester Consulting, Lattice customers realize nearly 40% reduction in turnover due to increased engagement and productivity. Companies also save thousands of hours on performance reviews and get more from their HR investment. These result in total benefits of $3.5M over three years, 195% ROI and a three-month payback period.

Equip your teams to do their best work.

High-performing companies know that business success relies on strategic programs that improve employees' experience at work and keep them performing their best. Lattice enables your teams to do their best work.

See your company as your people do.

People teams need a comprehensive, continuous, and representative understanding of the Voice of Employee to make informed decisions about their people. With continuous and real-time insights on topics like belonging, DEI, job satisfaction and trust in leadership, Lattice Engagement gives People teams the data they need to make better decisions.

Give every employee a roadmap for career growth.

Without clear expectations for how to grow at work, employees will look for growth elsewhere — that's a problem. Competencies, Levels and Tracks in Lattice Grow help provide daily clarity for employees while also inspiring advancement.

Our platform moves and grows with you.

Our CX team helps you get started and shares best practices and guidance to ensure your teams adopt and engage as your company grows. We invest in products and features that add constant customer value and integrate with your HR tech stack.
