

Automating payroll and reporting to allow for room for growth

About Brumfield Construction, Inc.

Brumfield Construction, Inc. is located in Washington state and was established in 1979. They specialize in industrial, residential and commercial projects across Western Washington. Brumfield Construction works on project of various sizes and complexity.

The Problem

Over the past few years, Brumfield Construction has seen a large amount of growth in their company. The team was now faced with task of updating their processes to reduce the time spent on the payroll procedures. Even with the use of Sage Construction Accounting, the payroll process was very manual. Manual processes are often time-consuming and prone to errors. With the growth of the company, the manual processes were becoming unrealistic to manage.

Brumfield Construction must also submit Certified Reporting for many of their projects. However the government requirements for submitting these reports has continued to change over the past year. Michelle and her team looked to their HCM provider and IDI for guidance and automation tools to streamline their process.

The Solution

IDI worked to deliver Contractor Central to integrate Sage Construction with Michelle's payroll system. Contractor Central created a consolidated platform for Michelle to view each of her processes and historical data. The platform also removed the need for paper and concern around errors. This simplification of Michelle's process saved her time and stress before each payroll deadline.

Once the payroll is processed, the Certified Payroll reports required by the State of Washington are generated with the click of a button. These reports are easy to deliver to the state in an electronic format the state requires.

"Ultimately, we are saving a ton of time from where we were before. It was worth it!"

I can usually get payroll for the prior week finalized by 10 am on a Tuesday. Before, we would still be working on it, printing live checks sometimes Thursday morning."

Michelle Petty

Office Manager for Brumfield Construction Inc.

Looking for more answers for construction?

Contact Us:

Visit our website: idesign.com

Call us: 866-846-3226

Email us: sales@idesign.com