WHAT IS A DEPENDENT ELIGIBILITY VERIFICATION?

On average, employers spend $3,000 per dependent annually in healthcare costs. Case studies show an estimated 4-8% of dependents are ineligible. By identifying and removing ineligible dependents from your healthcare plan, you could save thousands per year while offering your employees the same benefits packages. Or, you could use the savings to offer better benefits packages to your employees.

A dependent eligibility verification audit will help you identify ineligible dependents by requiring employees to submit documents to verify their dependents are actually eligible for coverage per your plan rules.

HOW MUCH COULD YOU SAVE?

$3,000 – $4,800

Annual employer cost per covered dependent.

4-8%

Average percentage of ineligible dependents who are currently enrolled in benefits.
